Female Sale

Welcome to the first edition of the Genetic Partners Salers Influence Female Sale. We are very pleased to team up with some of our most progressive bull customers in offering this outstanding group of commercial Salers influenced bred heifers and replacement heifer calves. These females were hand-selected from the very top of their respective herds and come from operations that have concentrated on using high-quality maternal genetics for generations.

The extra value of the Salers-cross female in a commercial cowherd is appreciated by many cattlemen across the country. Their extra pelvic area, vigor of the calves at birth and mothering ability result in a high percentage calf crop with less labor. Their outstanding fertility and longevity mean they stay in the herd longer. And their hair and foraging ability make them durable survivors in our challenging northern climate.

This sale offers anyone looking to add high quality females to your cowherd the opportunity put the profit-generating value of Salers genetics in your program while choosing from a group of females with a known genetic and management background. Thank you to both buyers and consignors for your support of this new endeavor. If we can be of any help to you, please contact us.
